GIRLS' BASKETBALL

STATISTICAL REPORT

Volume XXXVI

Prepared by John Vosejпка

FOREWORD

The 37th season of St. Paul City Conference girls' basketball is now history. You were part of that history. My 36th annual report is a look at some of the statistics of the just-completed season, as well as past seasons. It is the culmination of more than 50 hours of compilation, typing, duplicating and binding.

*It is traditional for me to compare, in this annual report, numerous statistics from one year to the next. With Arlington not competing in girls' basketball at the varsity level this year, each team played two less conference games. Because of this, it is impossible to directly compare this and last season. To get an idea of how the conference did in relationship to last season, I took a proportional amount per game and multiplied it to formulate a number that could be used to make comparisons. All numbers that have been treated in this fashion are noted with an asterisk (*).*

For the first time since 1991, a team whose first letter wasn't a "C" won the conference title. Humboldt captured its first-ever city title dethroning Central, who had won or shared the last nine conference crowns. The Hawks also ended the Minutemen's record 78-game conference winning streak. First-year coach Chris VanderHyde's Hawks also gave the conference their first-ever scoring and free throwing champion in Annessa Hicks. She would lead the league in scoring, averaging 19.6 ppg. This is the second highest conference average ever for a Humboldt female (only Dorie Adamez' 1984 average of 20.6 ranks higher). The talented senior guard would end her four-year conference career with 704 points, 13th best in conference history. She now ranks first in career conference three-point baskets with 93. Her 84.7% free throwing conversion rate this season bested all in the conference; she would rank fourth all-time in her conference career, making 75.4% of her free throws. The Hawks would lead the conference in free throwing for the second year in a row, converting free throws at a blistering 67.1% (third highest percentage ever). They also set a conference record when they had six players foul out in a single game (against Highland Park). Highland Park advanced to the Section 4AAA finals, losing to Hill-Murray, who finished second in the state.

Statistically, there was a drastic increase in most categories this year. Points scored, three-point field goals, and personal fouls all saw increased numbers. Of particular interest is the sharp increase in free throws made and attempted. There were 33.1% more free throws made and 22.3% more attempted. I am at a loss to explain why the substantial increase in this category.

Don't forget that complete statistics, including this year's All-Conference team, are found on the St. Paul City Conference athletic Web site (www.stpaulathletics.org). You will not only find basketball stats but results and standings from all conference athletic events.

As you peruse the pages of this and previous reports, as well as the Web site, I hope that it will help you remember the players, coaches, teams and records of St. Paul City Conference girls' basketball. See ya.
