2022-2023
GIRLS' BASKETBALL

STATISTICAL REPORT

Volume XLIX

Prepared by John Vosejka

FOREWORD

It is my annual tradition to publish a statistical report for girls' basketball. Last year marked the 48th consecutive season in which one was produced. However, with so few conference games being played last year (14), it was not a true sampling of a team's individual accomplishments. With less than 20% of a team's games being used, it really did not capture the essence of what I want to achieve by producing such a report.

When this season began, Johnson once again tried to field a varsity team. But, similar to last year, the team disbanded early on. This meant once again only five conference games would be played by each team. This is just not enough games played. For that reason I did not solicit the coaches assistance in providing copies from their score books for their conference games. After thinking about it, I decided to produce a scaled-down version of the report. It updated conference champs, varsity standings, and some individual conference statistics from the Star Tribune girls' basketball hub. Unfortunately, not every team religiously uses this great source of keeping your seasonal individual statistics. It may not seem important now, but when you are attempting to find out how many career points a player has scored (like a 1,000 points), unless you have all of the old score books, you are out of luck. With the constant change of head coaches, retrieving old score books may be impossible. I strongly urge you to visit the Star Tribune hub and add your individual scoring to each of your games. If you have a copy of last year's score book, you can go back and enter them. Their records go back as far as the 2010-2011 season. However, they are only as good as the coach or scorer that uses it for all of the games. If I haven't convinced you to use it this year, please consider it for next year!!

Como Park, for the eighth consecutive season, won the conference championship. In the process, the Olondo England-coached Cougars have now won 82 straight conference games (this season Como Park surpassed the Central record of 78 set back in 2003-2010). Unfortunately, they ended their Twin Cities Game dominance at seven when they fell to Roosevelt 64-49. They were the only school to make it to the Sectional semifinals. One other team highlight was Harding beating Highland Park for the first time since 2016.

On an individual basis, Como Park senior Shania Nichols-VanNett averaged 26.3 points in the four conference games she played, winning the scoring championship. There were two other players that average 20+ points games in their conference contests: Central senior Anna Rynkiewich (22.3 PPG) and Highland Park junior Tereya Vaughn (who averaged 20.0 PPG in the conference). The aforementioned players each had a conference game with at least 30 points scored.

Don't forget that other statistics, including this year's All-Conference team, are found on the St. Paul City Conference volunteer community-based athletic website (saintpaulsports.org). You will not only find basketball stats but schedules, results and standings from all conference athletic events. Previous stats books are also posted on the site.

As you peruse the pages of this and previous reports, as well as the website, I hope that it will help you remember the players, coaches, teams and records of St. Paul City Conference girls' basketball. See ya.
